What effects do you think this practice would bring to the children?

In this concurrent world, many guardians force their children to learn all types of subjects in their early age. The predominant reason of behind this is ~~heavy competition~~ ^{cut throat competition} for jobs in industries and I deem that it has ^{adverse} negative effect on children's mental and physical development.

At present time, it is difficult to find a job because of ^{large amount of} ~~heavy rate of~~ unemployment in industrial firms. Thus, become a well educated person in all sectors and acquire skill in different sectors pupils have to study multi courses and due to this most parents force their children to study multi-subjects. ^{In} Today's society needs multi-talented person in all fields and it is necessary to learn extra-curriculum. For example, one survey was conducted by TQI in India, more than 60% of mechanical industries have been hiring multi-skill employees for work.

At early age children become intelligent but it puts extra burden on children's mind and also ruined the childhood of children. Most student can not spend enough time to play various outdoors games and this will deter the physical development of once. Massive subjects at early age children can not accept mentally and this will lead depression and other mental disorders. For instance, As per survey of USA health care department, 50% of school pupils are suffering from mental disorders owing to burden of extensive courses.

In conclusion, Although, it is good to learn various subjects at early age, for students, I assert that it will ruin the childhood of children and children should learn important and few courses at early age.
